Podcast Description

This episode of BowCast is dedicated to scent control. Anthony and Aneal spend time discussing the products and tactics we use to control our scent in the field. We also explore Anthony's issues with washing his hair and rolling around in the dirt. Listen in and you'll here why Aneal may never sit next to Anthony again! We cover the following in this episode:

- 1) Soaps and gels
- 2) Scent controlled clothing
- 3) Scent control and elimination sprays
- 4) Washing and storing your clothes

Next Week

BowCast will be taking one week off. There are 2 main reasons for this. 1) We are in the heart of whitetail season and 2) We are getting ready to launch the new BowCast.com website. So, we'll round up with another episode in the first part of November.

In the meantime check out the new site! There is a lot of new functionality including forums, video casts, and blog posts. Sign up as a member and post some discussion questions. Also, don't forget to sign up for our electronic newsletter. By signing up as a member (free) we'll give you access to a 24 page article we wrote entitled "How to increase your effective range by 20 yards: In just 4 weeks!".
